Music: Rhythm Unit
In a few weeks we hope to begin our music unit on recorder. The school has a sanitized class set of recorders for the students to use in class. However, it will be important for students to practice at home as well. So, we request that you purchase one ahead of time for your child to practice with at home! There are lots of inexpensive options on Amazon to choose from. I realize that around half the students have music experience so I will work to keep them interested and challenged during this unit. Those of you who are wondering why we learn recorder and possibly are a little apprehensive of the thought of listening to your child practice at home, PLEASE reach out to me. I'd love to share some reasons why the recorder can be greatly beneficial for your child, as well as some tips and tricks for practicing at home.

~~ From Mr. Houweling ~~

I'm sure we were created for more temperate climates:) "Whether the depths of the sea or the heights of the mountains, the winds or the fruitful trees, all should praise the Lord-and they do! When the weather is bad, it is good to know that even the storms fulfill God's Word" --from With the Word by Warren W. Wiersbe.

With the students reciting verses $1-3$, we've made a start in learning the whole chapter of 1 Corinthians 13 by heart. There's been a few times during class where we've had to refer back to the part about being a noisy gong and clanging cymbal. Love is the underlying principle of life. If we are to identify ourselves with Christ, then we need to adopt the mind of Christ, be Christ-like! May the Lord help us in radiating His love as we busy ourselves with our daily work.
